Hike Singapore

1st October to 31st October 2020

For many of us, all we see in Singapore are high-rise buildings and shopping malls. However, you will be surprised by the amount of greenery that you can find within the city-state and her offshore islands. The best way to explore this? Hiking, of course!

Participate in Hike Singapore, a new initiative to get Singaporeans into the great outdoors. By doing so, you will get to explore the hiking trails in Singapore and appreciate the lush greenery the country has to offer. Not only will you get to enjoy the benefits that come with hiking, you will also enjoy the time to bond with friends and family. This is something we often forgo due to the busy lifestyles we lead.

THE FIVE BENEFITS OF HIKING:

Fitness

Hiking is a good way to improve our fitness, particularly if our route includes some hills, which will force our heart to work harder. Taking a hike on the slightly uneven surface of a trail also strengthens our muscles and improves our sense of balance.

Sharper Mind

Hiking helps our minds stay sharp. How, you may ask? Thanks to the extra oxygen that is taken in during exercise, our brain is more alert.

Stress-Buster

Another benefit of hiking is that it helps to relieve stress. Studies have suggested that spending time in green spaces enables our tired minds to rest after the prolonged use of the computers and mobile phones.

Creativity

Walking in nature allows our minds to wander freely which in turn leads to more creativity. Many experts have suggested that walking in nature allows our minds to wander and encourages creativity. This will, in turn, allow new ideas to flow freely.

Sleep Quality

A strenuous hike helps in ensuring that we get a good night's sleep. The tired body will naturally get sleepy later in the night and one can look forward to a good night's rest!

Visit www.hikesingapore2020.sg for information on all hiking trails in Singapore.

If you have any questions about the event, please email enquiries@hikesingapore2020.sg

Four Hiking Trails to Explore

Merah Park	The easiest of the four suggested trails, this 1-kilometre hike should take you less than 30 minutes. Bird enthusiasts will enjoy the special bird hides along the way. You can observe bird species such as eagles and woodpeckers from them.
Victoria Nature Park	Located at the north of the island, this easy 2-kilometre hike should take about an hour. There are plenty of fruit trees such as jackfruit and bananas. Do look out for the dragonflies. There are at least 56 species that have been recorded in the park, almost half of the dragonfly species found in Singapore.
Coconut Marine Park	This 2-kilometre trail, located along the south-west shore of Singapore, is a little challenging and will take you about 2 hours from one end to the other. Keep your eyes open for the hidden beaches along the way.
Ridge Community Park	Ridge Community Park offers the most challenging trail of 5-kilometres, which will take most hikers about 3 hours to complete. However, once on the trail, you will get to enjoy the beauty of the streams and lakes as well as the many squirrels and monkeys.

Health and Safety Tips:

Wear comfortable footwear

- Choose well-fitting footwear with good ankle support. Make sure they are comfortable enough so you do not get blisters on that long hike.

Select the right trail

- Start off with a shorter and easier trail especially if you have not exercised in a while, or are uncertain of your fitness level.

Check the weather

- Take note of lightning alerts as you check the weather forecast before you begin your hike.

Stay hydrated

- Drink plenty of water during your hike, especially when it is hot.

Carry essentials

- Bring along a small backpack with items like a first-aid kit, mosquito repellent and healthy snacks.

Walk with a friend

- Hike with a partner as a safety precaution. This will ensure there is someone to keep you company and seek help should there be an emergency.

People have been keeping parrots as pets for many centuries. Some keep them for companionship _____ others keep them for their intelligence. However, the birds' ability (29) _____ mimic human speech and produce a variety of sounds _____ the major (30) reason for people's fascination. (31)

How do parrots produce sounds? Humans have vocal cords, which _____ located high (32) in the throat. _____ we speak, we release air, which passes over the vocal cords and makes (33) _____ vibrate. Unlike humans, parrots do not have vocal cords. Their vocal organs or 'voice (34) boxes', located _____ the bottom of the 'windpipe' or trachea, are sound creators. Tiny (35) muscles move in their 'voice boxes' to create the different sounds they make. As parrots do not depend (36) _____ their mouths and tongues like humans to change the sounds they produce, they (37) sing without opening their beaks. (38)

Parrots learn to talk by imitation, just as young children learn to speak by listening to their parents. _____ training, bird trainers pronounce each word slowly and clearly. This way, (38) parrots are able to repeat them easily.

Today, parrots are still a favourite pet among people all over the world.

The tea ceremony is a unique Japanese tradition. During the ceremony, tea is prepared and drunk in the traditional tea room.

Tea was introduced to Japan when tea seeds were brought in from China. It was first drunk
(39)  (40)
for a medicinal beverage. This beverage only gained popularity among people years later. The (41)
wealthy members of society would organise tea drinking parties among themselves. They would (42)

then show off their expensive tea bowls and their knowledge about tea.

Today, the tea ceremony were practised as a hobby. One of the main purposes of this (43)
ceremony is for guests to experience the warm and friendly treatment of the Japanese host.

Usually, the traditional tea ceremony took place in a venue surrounded by a garden. The garden is kept simple and peaceful to encourage a calm spirit. Flowers with bright colours or deep (46)
(47) Scents
scents are avoided as they are a distraction.

The host prepares the tea in front of the guests. Each piece of equipment for preparing tea is carefully selected and has their specific place. One of the key things to pay attention to is the
(49)  (50)
host's hands and not the made of the tea itself. Her hand moves are considered a part of the "art of tea".

Hence, the Japanese tea ceremony is not only about the taste of the tea, but the manner in which it is served.

To help keep Singapore clean and safe from the spread of germs and illnesses, each and everyone of us should play a part by practising habits of good public hygiene.

The quickest and simplest habit to adopt would be good hand hygiene. We use our hands constantly – touching many different (51) _____, shaking hands with people, eating our meals, typing on our laptops or even playing at school. Naturally, our hands then are the biggest carriers (52) _____ germs.

By washing our hands with soap and water, we can get (53) _____ of germs and prevent the spread of diseases. We should also wash our hands before eating or cooking food and after (54) _____ the toilet. We must also remember to wash our hands after coughing or sneezing and after being in (55) _____ with someone who is ill.

Another good habit to adopt is to turn (56) _____ from other people and cover our noses and mouths with tissue paper when we cough or sneeze. If this is not done, droplets of liquid carrying germs from the nose and mouth will be (57) _____ in the air and other people will (58) _____ them in. We should then throw these dirty or used tissue paper away (59) _____ delay.

We should practise social (60) _____ by visiting a doctor if we have a cough, a runny nose, a sore throat or a fever. It is advisable to (61) _____ crowds until we are well again.

Besides practising personal hygiene, we need to play our part by (62) _____ our surroundings clean, well-ventilated and pest-free. Therefore, we should aim to keep all toilets dry and clean and (63) _____ our trays after eating. In school, we should keep our tables clean by wiping down after our (64) _____ at the canteen.

(65) _____ these habits are easy to adopt, we should practise them consistently. As Singaporeans, let's each do our part to keep Singapore clean and safe.

Jonah would never forget how he managed to overcome his shyness and make new friends all because of the timely advice he had heeded a month ago. He remembered that day clearly.

The bell for recess resounded through the corridors at Glendale Primary School. However, instead of heading to the canteen like all the other children did, Jonah, a new student at the school, retreated to the library. He pushed open the swinging door and headed for the nearest bookshelf. Other than the incessant drone of the air-conditioner, the library was quiet and there was barely a soul in sight. Far in a corner, he spotted Mrs Lim, the librarian, who was too busy shelving some books to pay any attention to him. The windows to the library looked out to the canteen. Jonah could hear children laughing and chatting. He wished he was outside playing with some friends but he did not let this bother him.

Suddenly, Jonah heard a rustling sound in the corner. He spun around and saw a pair of eyes peeking at him from behind the bookshelves. Jonah abruptly turned back, eyes wide as saucers. "Oh dear!" he whispered. He peeked over his shoulder again and saw a smaller boy on crutches walking towards him.

"Hi," the boy muttered awkwardly from behind Jonah. "Can I sit with you?" he asked.

"Um...yes," Jonah said, his face flushed red with embarrassment. The boy pulled out the chair next to him and sat down.

"I'm Henry. Why are you reading here when you could be playing with your friends instead?"

"Uh..." Jonah looked around the library, avoiding Henry's gaze. He did not want Henry to know the real reason he was in the library. What would Henry think of him if he knew Jonah did not have any friends? It would make Jonah feel more miserable. Sensing Jonah's hesitation, Henry replied, "It's alright. Finish reading your book. I'll sit with you!"

As Jonah turned the page, he realised Henry was still sitting there, watching him steadily. He had the same look in his eye as Jonah's father during the quiet car rides home from school. Jonah was helplessly tight-lipped whenever his father asked whom he had played or eaten with at school. From his silence, Jonah's father knew he was lonely. It was not that Jonah did not have any friends. They all just happened to live really far away. Jonah would stay up late at night chatting on the computer with his old friends from his previous school. Somehow, it made him feel close to them despite the distance. After being transferred to a new school, Jonah realised how difficult it was to make new friends. Furthermore, everyone had different interests and their own circle of friends already.

"I know how you feel," Henry said, as if he could read Jonah's mind. "I know what it's like to be lonely now that I'm here. Just look at my cast. With this broken leg, I'm stuck here the whole week and cannot go out to play!" Henry said in frustration. "That's why I turn to books for comfort to keep myself occupied," he continued, smiling.

"I'm not lonely," Jonah replied.

"Oh, come on," Henry said, rolling his eyes. "I can see it in your face. You look miserable."

"Jonah was startled as he had not expected a total stranger to sense his loneliness. "Just say hello to someone today," Henry encouraged. "I promise they'll respond. Once you've made the first move, it just gets easier."

Jonah sighed, not knowing what to do next. Henry obviously did not understand how challenging that was going to be. However, Jonah appreciated the advice and thanked him before making his way out of the library. In the hallway outside the library, a boy from Jonah's class was crouched on the floor, picking up pens, pencils, and highlighters that had dropped out of his pencil case. Fighting the urge to just walk away, Jonah leaned down and picked up a few pens. Then, he remembered what Henry had advised him.

"Hello, I'm Jonah. Let me help you," he offered. The boy looked up at him.

"Thank you! My name is Ruben."
